

Say County Council "Bucks" Newmarket For Police Court

COUNTY REFUSES TO PAY
$1 A DAY BOARD FOR ITS PRISONERS

MATHEWS ANNOYED

York county council has refused to pay an account for feeding and housing county prisoners at the Newmarket jail, N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor, informed the town council on Monday evening.

The council was considering an account from Cousins Dairy for meals for prisoners.

"The town made an arrangement with the county that the county would pay $1 a day for all prisoners," said Mr. Mathews. "They did that until recently. On behalf of the town I now feel a certain amount of righteous indignation. The county uses our cells and we pay for lunch for the prisoners. They use our telephone."

"The county has done everything possible to buck Newmarket as far as the court is concerned. They even instruct county police to go to Toronto to swear out informations to avoid paying 25 or 50 cents to Allan Mills. It is a piece of county politics. It is time that this council took a strong stand."

"How much do we get out of

Dear Andrew: Quite a time has elapsed since my last letter. Believe me this is the first real resting spell I've had since then. I believe I was somewhere in the vicinity of New Liskeard and Porcupine when I signed off last.

These towns are excellent examples of "ghost towns" and they take the sidewalks in at 10 p.m. of course. I stood around New Liskeard all night and then got a bright idea. The register of the nearest hotel informed me that a resident of Kirkland Lake was staying there overnight. The rest was simple.

Kirkland Lake came into view at 9 a.m. that morning and I got a bit of a shock. I had heard Kirkland Lake spoken of as a well-populated mining town but I was not prepared for its main street. So help me, Andrew, Kirkland Lake has everything that Toronto has and parts of it are even more modern. The space being limited, I can't describe the town to you and I don't know whether you've been there.

Dr. Chisholm (late of Toronto) was my host there for a night and the next morning I was on my way. In a few hours I was in Ansonville and walking through an office door, the nameplate of which read Dr. A. F. Dales, Dentist. I put my bag down and seated myself in the dental chair. In a few moments Audy entered and said in his most business-like voice, "What can I do for you, sir." I pointed to a fictitiously aching tooth and said "At un in 'ere." Then he took a good look at me and knew me. A face from home is something to be thankful for I learned as he yanked me out of

Plan Construction Of Incinerator Next Year, End Nuisance

DR. J. H. WESLEY TELLS OF INCINERATOR AT FOR-EST HILL

WOULD COST $1,500

By DR. J. H. WESLEY, M.O.H.

About three years ago, we were having quite a number of complaints about the operation of the town garbage dump, and on advice of the deputy minister of health, your M. O. H. visited a dump at Churchill, where a large quantity of garbage collected from the summer residences along the lake shore was being treated by spraying with a disinfectant.

For the last three years we have been spraying the garbage at the dump with a disinfectant and so far as we can tell, with satisfactory results. The flies and the odor have both largely disappeared, but it will not have any effect on the rats that infest the place. The biggest cause for complaint is smoke and foul odor from burning garbage. After using every precaution against fire, fire repeatedly breaks out from one cause and another, and will burn for days and days in spite of every attempt to extinguish it. It will continue to burn far beneath the surface and no amount of water will have any effect on it.

And it is on the account just mentioned that the patience of the people in that quarter of the town has become exhausted, and they have sent a largely signed petition to your M. O. H. asking that the dump be done away with as they have suffered from its baneful effects beyond all endurance. They have my sincere sympathy and I will go far enough to say that it was a very short-sighted piece of business to ever put a garbage dump in the centre of a town in the first place. But it has gone too far to ever think of removing it, and the building of an incinerator is the best way of getting over the nuisance.

With the idea of exterminating the intolerable nuisance at the dump, your M.O.H. has been

Would Heat Town Office Building With Electricity

ARTHUR EVANS SUGGESTS
PLAN FOR USE OF OFF-
PEAK POWER

A proposal that the town heat the clerk's office, fire-hall, council chamber and relief office with electricity was made to the council by Councillor A. D. Evans, chairman of the water and light committee, on Monday night.

"The equipment would cost $500," Mr. Evans said. "If you used off-peak power we would give you a good rate."

"How much?" asked Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd.

"You pay $150 for coal now," said Mr. Evans. "We would do it for $100. You have to get a new furnace if you use coal."

Mr. Evans said that the water-works building is now successfully being heated with electricity.

"The clerk's office is very cold," said N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor. "If you are near the stove you roast. If you are away from it you freeze."

"Heating by electricity is very expensive," said Dr. Boyd. "Why don't they heat public buildings by electricity?"

"We have off-peak power," said Mr. Evans.

"We could easily arrange for them to turn it off for half an hour during the peak," said Councillor Wm. Dixon.

"If the plan were a success, would you offer it to private citizens?" asked the mayor.

"No, because they buy from the town," said Mr. Dixon.

"Hot-air heating gives you ventilation," said Mayor Boyd.

"Cities like Galt are heating their public buildings with electricity," said C. C. Racher, town electrical engineer. "In Toronto they haven't a heavy peak. Here we have and we could heat this building with off-peak power. We also have some people interested in off-peak hot-water heaters. We could use the same control system for them. We have 800 horsepower off-peak power that we could sell."

The question was not settled.

BUYS ELEVATOR

Clarence Bogart, formerly of Newmarket, has purchased the Northern elevator at Pronguin, Sask., and has re-opened the elevator for business. The elevator has been closed for the past two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bogart and daughter, accompanied by Miss Constance Roadhouse, left Newmarket about two months ago, by motor, to take up residence in western Canada.

He is survived by his widow, Jessie Dale, his mother, Mrs. D. Nelson, Yonge St., Aurora, and two sisters, Mrs. Roy De La Haye and Mrs. G. L. Wilkinson, Aurora.

The funeral service was held at Willowdale Presbyterian church on Wednesday, with interment in Westminister cemetery.

LIONS RESUME WORK FOR UNDERPRIVILEGED

Six dental cases, six tonsil cases and one cod liver oil patient were reported by W. W. Osborne, chairman of the health and welfare committee, to the Lions club at its first fall meeting on Monday evening.

The new president, Jack Luck, was in the chair. The secretary, H. E. Gilroy, made a report on the district convention. Frank Courtney was appointed district treasurer. Mr. Gilroy reported.

T. B. Scott, Alex. Eves and W. M. Cockburn sang two songs.

Dr. C. E. VanderVoort initiated into membership Norman Williams, T. B. Scott and Dr. George E. Case.

Frank Courtney, chairman of the carnival committee, reported a net return of $820. The club passed a vote of thanks to the committee.

On behalf of the citizens' committees of the two town bands, J. O. Little thanked the club for its co-operation and asked the club to support the "big band night."

Frank Bowser reported on progress with the Lions club park. Deputy-District Governor W. L. Bosworth reported that a new club had been formed in Penetanguishene, and another in Coldwater and Wabashene.

MRS. M. B. McMANUS REACHES 94TH YEAR

After a long and active life, Mrs. Margaret Boland McManus died at York county hospital yesterday in her 94th year.

There will be a private funeral service on Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Patterson, followed by interment in Shelburne cemetery. Rev. R. R. McMath will conduct the service.

Born in Port Hope, Mrs. McManus lived most of her life at Shelburne. She married in 1872 James Rutherford McManus, who died in 1924. She has lived in Newmarket the last 33 years.

Mrs. McManus was always interested in the church and was a life member of the W. C. T. U. and the Woman's Missionary Society. She belonged to the Wesleyan Methodist church and later to the United church.

Surviving are four children: Leonard McManus, Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Arthur (Eva) Skelding, McLeod, Alta.; Frank McManus, Kenora; Mrs. W. J. (Florence) Patterson, Newmarket; 15 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Jns. Lunney will be "at home" to their friends from 3 to 5 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. next Wednesday, Sept. 20, it being the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Dr. Kepler is a personal friend of Generalissimo Chiang-Kai-Shek and of the premier and members of the government of China. He organized a movement in China to help the thousands of refugees, with the approval of Chiang-Kai-Shek and received the first contribution to its funds from the premier, who gave $30,000 out of his own pocket.

"If Japan comes out on top in China, enabling her to exploit the great Chinese population, she will sell to the world so cheaply that all our factories will close till our wages fall lower than Chinese wages," Dr. Kepler said. "There would be an industrial revolution in this country."

COUNCIL PASSES UP HOUSING LEGISLATION

In order to qualify Newmarket under the dominion housing legislation, he had obtained from Ottawa a copy of the necessary by-law and found that the town would also have to send Ottawa a list of all property owned by the town and a map showing the property which the town was offering for sale under the by-law at $50 a lot, N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor, told the town council on Monday evening.

He himself was not capable of drawing the necessary map and did the town council wish Mr. Gibson to be employed for the purpose, asked Mr. Mathews.

"The question is whether it is worth-while," Mr. Mathews said. "There have been several inquiries about the by-law, and I know one man definitely who wants to go ahead under it. The dominion government will pay 100 per cent of the taxes the first year, 50 per cent the second year and 25 per cent the third year on all houses valued up to $4,000 built under the scheme since June 1, 1938."

"Better forget about it for the present," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd.

Redmen Are One Up In Play-Off Series, Play Again Tonight

DEFEAT GREENSHIRTS FOR SECOND TIME TO TUNE
OF 11-6

MAY FINISH TONIGHT

By JACK PEPPIATT

The Redmen climbed another rung in their play-off series with the Sutton Greenshirts last Thursday to take a one-game advantage. They garnered two runs in the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings, to mark up an 11-6 score. Number two came up with regularity. A sizeable crowd passed the grounds turnstiles.

Webster lasted the seven innings, with VanZant behind the mask. Milroy started off on the Greenshirts' mound but was relieved by McNeil in the fourth.

The fireworks popped off in the first inning when Charlie Cunningham knocked in the initial run to send Giles across the platter. Cain and Giles came in on Gibney's double in the second. VanZant and Peters rang the bell in the third, Gibney and Brammer in the fourth. Alex. Webster poled out a soaring four-plyer in the fifth. Trivett, Cunningham and VanZant completed the local scoring in the sixth.

The Suttonites could give no serious threat to the Redshirts' lead and were outclassed all the way. Milroy was easy pickings and soon shook the dust off his heels.

The entire Indian squad played up to the mark. However, the game was not the crowd-pleasing brand. Still, it gave the Hubsters that all important advantage to carry tonight to Sutton.

St. John's People Pray For Peace Until War Ends

MESSAGE FROM ARCHBISHOP SHOP READ BY DR.
MUCKLE MONDAY

Last Sunday morning the forty hours devotion, in honor of Jesus present in the Blessed Eucharist, was opened by a solemn procession through St. John's church after the high mass. Sunday evening Rev. Joseph Muckle, C. S. B., of St. Michael's College, Toronto, preached a very instructive sermon on the active part the congregation take in offering with the priest the eucharistic sacrifice of the mass.

On Monday evening Rev. Dr. Muckle read a letter which was sent out by His Grace, Archbishop McGuigan, to be read in all the churches of the Archdiocese. After commenting on the letter, Dr. Muckle preached on "Jesus as an Intimate Friend."

The forty hours devotion closed on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance at all services.

The archbishop's letter follows:

"Peace is the sublime gift for which humanity has long been praying. It consists in that tranquillity and beauty of order which are the fruit of spiritual

Councillors And Health Board Study Incinerators

PETITION FROM RESIDENTS OF QUEEN ST. DISTRICT
READ

Newmarket's dump was thoroughly raked over at the town council meeting on Monday evening.

As a result Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd called a joint meeting of the town council and the board of health at the scene of the "offence" on Tuesday afternoon and Reeve F. A. Lundy and Councillor D. O. Mungovan are organizing a party to visit a new incinerator at Forest Hill Village shortly.

A largely signed petition drew the matter to the attention of the council on Monday evening: "For a number of years we have endured the odor, the smoke, the rats and the unsanitary condition of the dump. We feel that we have put up with this condition long enough. It is not fair or healthy to have such a condition right at our doors. We demand of you, as representatives of us, to remove this disgrace from our district and also from our town."

"Periodically there are fires which, under more careful supervision, would not occur so frequently," said Dr. Boyd. "We do not want people unnecessarily annoyed. We will take every step in our power to eliminate the nuisance complained of."

Later Dr. Boyd said: "We have done everything humanly possible."

"That is nothing," said Councillor Mungovan.

"It has been referred to the board of health for four or five years," said Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale. "I walk past there daily."

IS ON HOLIDAYS

Andrew Whyte, manager of the grocery department at Loblaw Groceries store, is on a two weeks' vacation. A. Simmons of Toronto is relieving manager.

The board of health has done less than nothing.

"I won't take that," replied Dr. Boyd. "The board has been very active. Dr. Wesley has been down there and has recommended an incinerator. What is your suggestion?"

"I'll move that the M.O.H. be asked to report at the next meeting, and, if necessary, get the provincial department of health up," said Mr. Vale.

"Second that," said Mr. Mungovan.

"What is your suggestion?" Dr. Boyd asked Mr. Vale. "Are you in favor of an incinerator or of getting a dump outside of town?"

"I favor the M.O.H. coming to the next meeting," said Mr. Vale. "Passing the buck," commented the mayor.

"The M. O. H. works slowly," said Councillor Frank Bowser. "We could make a cheap incinerator out of the old brick down there."

"The M.O.H. has done much," said Reeve Lundy. "He has visited other towns. I believe that he is going to recommend a cheap incinerator. I have a plan whereby we could build a cheap incinerator for $600 or $700."

"Why not make suggestions?" said the mayor to Mr. Mungovan.

"I'm not an authority on incinerators, but I am an authority on smells," was Mr. Mungovan's answer.

FRIENDS ATTEND MEETING
IN TORONTO TO DIS-CUSS WAR

Owing to the present situation in Europe a special executive meeting of the Canadian Friends Service Committee met in Toronto on Sept. 9. Several persons from Newmarket and vicinity attended.

There was much interesting and helpful discussion on the present international situation and on the national services which Christian citizens can consistently render, also, on the possible services which Friends can give to any who may feel that they must take the position of conscientious objectors to war, even though they may not be members of an established and historic peace society.

A concern was expressed at this meeting "that persons should avoid disparaging words or statements against the German people, since it is not these people but rather their form of governments and its proponents

After much consideration it was decided that among other things a brief statement should be sent to the dominion government stating that in the present crisis of war the Society of Friends in Canada wishes to re-affirm their ancient testimony against war as contrary to both the spirit and teachings of Jesus and that they most earnestly affirm that as loyal Canadians they wish their country's greatest good and are therefore ready to render the service which they believe is not inconsistent with their Christian testimony.

IN PRAISE OF TENNIS

Of all games played commonly on this continent tennis is the greatest, for it calls out of the players more good sportsmanship than any other. Perhaps we should specifically exclude the game of cricket from our argument, for it is played to some extent in this country and all we know about it is that the word "cricket" is synonymous with good sportsmanship. In tennis, except in tournament play with a referee, the players are their own referees, and the rule is, and it is amazing how generously it is observed, to give the benefit of the doubt to your opponent.

Benefit Of Doubt

Doubt is continually arising and the players are ever called upon to give the benefit of the doubt to the other fellow. Each player decides whether the balls on his side of the net are good or out. The player doesn't lose anything by being generous, for the other fellow is treating him in the same way, and both are doing their souls good. There is also an unwritten rule which prevents the player from accepting generosity to which he is not entitled. In a tournament game this same spirit prevents the player from accepting the benefit of a referee's ruling which he thinks wrong.

We'll Never Forget

We once saw an important match being played. An outstanding player, who had won many championships, was being defeated by a younger man. The young man had two sets to his credit and had the score five games to nothing or "five love" on the third set often required in tournament finals. One more game would mean victory. The old-timer, whose strength had always been in his steadiness, started to stage a come-back. He won four games in succession, and was in the fifth game which would have made the score 5-5 and have made it necessary for one player to get two games ahead to win the set. At this point an unfortunate incident occurred. The referee failed to see clearly a ball on the old-timer's base-line. He asked the spectators, who disagreed, and then called the ball out, in the old-timer's favor. But the old-timer wouldn't accept the dubious point, and obviously drove the next point into the net. The point which he gave away cost him the game, set and match, as it turned out a couple of minutes later. The old-timer followed the tennis custom of going to the net to congratulate his younger opponent on his victory. Oh, tennis is a great game, and we ought to do more to encourage and teach it.

Educational

Tennis is too an educational game. It not only offers physical education, and unlimited opportunity to develop skill and muscle and co-ordinate brain and body, but it offers more opportunity for thinking, planning, and determining than any other game we know. It is the game of games for those who like to feel a call on their physical, mental and spiritual resources.

ANOTHER VERSAILLES OR WHAT?

Fighting side by side in this war will be those who think that the victorious allies treated the defeated Germans too harshly after the last war and so brought about the present war and those who think that they treated them too leniently and so permitted the present war. The latter group are more numerous, we would say from our street contacts of the last few days, but we think that the former group (with whom probably belongs Mr. Chamberlain) are right. We tried last week to state the case of those who think that this time the allies must follow victory with generosity. This week we cite a few paragraphs of the Midland Free Press's statement of the same case:

"In the end the free peoples of the world will triumph. Liberty and democracy will not perish from the earth. The enslaved German nation will, however, be deceived by its government's false propaganda for a time, and will fight valiantly for what it believes a just cause. Let us have no doubts as to the patriotism of the Germans. Adolf Hitler is almost an idol to the vast majority of the youth, whatever their elders may secretly think. Millions of them are ready to march to death in blind obedience to their Führer. Before their morale reaches the breaking point the people will suffer much. It will not be a short war. Make no mistake about that. We of the democracies will find it necessary to throw our every resource into the struggle.

"It is simply incredible that the world should again be at war. One is tempted to despair for the human race, so little do we seem to learn from suffering. The last war was fought to save the world for democracy. It succeeded for a time. It failed because the nations which had set their hands to the plow turned back. The victorious allies, in their natural resentment against Germany, imposed peace terms so severe as to make success impossible for those Germans who sought to make democracy work. The League of Nations, from which so much good was hoped, finally foundered because the nation which gave it birth deserted its own child. Democracy will have to be saved all over again. Pray God we shall avoid the same follies when we have emerged victorious.

"God grant that this time we may make a lasting success of our grim task. We must first defeat our own war makers. Then we must devise not only a just peace, but some sort of world government which will make it impossible for this ghastly thing ever to happen again."

BUGLERS STEAL GALT SHOW

Members of the Lions club who accompanied the R. S. A. bugle band to Galt on Saturday had their eyes opened. It is one thing to see and hear a band play at home, and to be told that the band is one of the best in the province. It is another thing to see the superiority of that band recognized abroad, in another town. There were no other bugle bands present, as a result of the war, but the R. S. A. bugle band was scored ten points ahead of the brass bands representing the cities of Brantford, Stratford and Galt. Newmarket's Citizens' band would have easily out-classed the brass bands present. The Newmarket buglers, with their showy uniforms, their splendid marching and their expert playing, stole the show. Newmarket can be mighty proud of these bugling and drumming musicians.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

J. R. Hale of the Orillia Packet and Times has returned from a nine day trip within the Arctic circle. He left Edmonton on June 20 at 8 a.m. by plane and arrived in Akavik early on the morning of June 21, and returned to Edmonton June 30 at 8 p.m. During the entire nine days he never saw night. It was day all the time. He was in the land of the midnight sun. What a splendid thing it would be for our readers if all newspapermen could be exposed to nine days continual light!

MORE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

In looking over some of Ontario's town weeklies we have noticed that several towns this year have recorded marked increases in high school attendance. This has been the experience at Newmarket high school as well. In Barrie the increase is due to more students in the early forms. Possibly the new public school curriculum is proving so much more interesting and effective that it is producing more students ready and anxious to go on to high school.

END OF CIVILIZATION?

The Barrie Examiner says: "It has repeatedly been asserted in recent years that another world war would be the end of civilization. That is true in the sense that all wars have put an end to civilization for the time being. War is a relic of barbarism, and what is termed civilized warfare is more barbaric than that of ancient barbarism itself." The Examiner quotes: "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" In other words, we must have the bad before we can enjoy the good, says the Examiner. We certainly do not agree with those who said—and perhaps we were among them—that another war would wipe out our civilization. Those who said things like that said them to try to prevent another war. Nevertheless, a large-scale war is bound to bring about tremendous changes in our civilization. If a world war comes, can severe economic and social upheavals be far behind?

HISTORY WILL TELL

Mr. J. S. Woodsworth wrote his own political obituary in parliament last week when he declared his personal stand for pacifism. It is true that Ramsay MacDonald was a pacifist throughout the great war, and that public opinion so greatly changed after the war that he became prime minister twice. We believe also that Lloyd George opposed Britain's entry into the Boer war, and made himself very unpopular, but lived to become prime minister. But they were young men, and Mr. Woodsworth is not. He will not remain active in politics long enough to capitalize on any public revulsion toward war. Mr. Woodsworth stood for his principles, and for his principles he was booed by the less thoughtful of his fellow parliamentarians. Soon they will be acclaiming acts of heroism on the field of battle, but they did not appreciate the greater heroism of the man who dared to stand alone. They crucified him because he stood firm for what he believed to be the teachings of Jesus Christ.

FORGOTTEN BUT NOT GONE

In telling the value of the Trent canal system, both for the passenger traffic it carries and for its value in controlling floods and conserving water-power, the Orillia Packet and Times says that the Orillia board of trade has on several occasions declined to advocate the completion of the canal through the Severn river to Lake Huron. The canal runs from Trenton via Peterboro to Port Severn (the last 16 miles a marine railway), and according to the Packet and Times, in 1938 carried more passengers than the Welland canal. The Orillia board of trade doesn't believe that the expenditure is warranted at the present time, in view of the parlous state of the country's finances, but the Packet and Times thinks that the canal will eventually be completed and be justified by tourist traffic.

RETURN OF THE NATIVE

The Aton Free Press says: "The Toronto papers announced the other day that Miss Mazo de la Roche is to return to native Toronto to take up her residence. Perhaps Miss Roche will also, when residing there, find time to visit Aton, which was also native to her some years ago." Maybe she was one of those modern babies whose parents lived in Aton but used a city hospital for the blessed event. We are sorry that we can't say that she was born in Newmarket, too, but her uncle, Danford Roche, did business here for many years.

Those who pass on rumors as facts in these trying days are performing a poor service. Governments have some justification when they distort the war picture by suppressing some facts and magnifying others. They are trying to bolster their own people. Whether it is wise or necessary, we do not know. It is called propaganda. Individuals, however, have no justification whatever when they make surmises, which soon change, as they pass from mouth to mouth, from possibilities to probabilities to "facts." The Barrie Examiner explodes several rumors concerning Camp Borden. Similar unfortunate rumors are on the wing in every town.

"Several grown men of today who have flatfish tops to their heads owe it to the fact that in infancy they lived in a very political county," says the Northern News. Those were in the days when "babes were patted on the head."

MOSAIC

By Isabel Inglis Colville

The past two weeks have been laid out in a sort of mosaic—a distinctive pattern of dark and light. Before war was declared the pattern was in lighter shades, bright bits of pleasure inlaid in the quiet shades of our daily living.

Now through all our daily tasks is fitted in the ebony of war news and the amethyst of sorrow.

We fit these pieces into our lives, as we listen to the broadcasts and read our daily papers, and then, because, though men fight and women weep and little children are homeless and parentless, we each must go on with what work we have to do, and besides find a way in which we can be of some help in relieving distress.

I had in mind, before the peace of the world fell, shattered by a madman, to write of brighter and simpler things, things funny and things pleasant, which I saw on the second day I visited the C. N. E.

It was Music Day, but we managed to squeeze in a lot of other things, made all the more pleasant by the thread of music which ran through the great park that day.

For one thing, while my better half was otherwise engaged, I visited the graphic art building, where Canadian water colors, applied art and photography were housed. When I went in and glanced round, it came to me that some of the things I saw resembled neither man, beast nor landscape, and I thought helplessly, "Oh, for a guide," and just then I saw one could buy a catalogue. So buy one I did, and thus armed I started my tour. I suppose I've fallen behind in the march of art, for, you see, I had always thought of art as concrete beauty.

And there were a few things that were beautiful, and when you came to them you just stood and gazed at them with your eyes on them, and wished they were your own. There were spruce trees without any spines or needles—what you like—and unless they were all dead, the artist must have seen another kind of spruce from those which adorn our Ontario lawns and forests. There were ploughed fields, which, if a farmer saw them as part of his heritage, he would imagine he was having a nightmare.

There was one, entitled Arums, but if the dirty yellow-white splashes, nearly as high as the trees under which they stood, were lilies, then I'm a Hottentot.

There were a few really lovely landscapes, but the ones I looked at longest, when I found them in the catalogue, had been lent from different collections.

It seems to me that a little of the somewhat uncertain outlook and atmosphere of the times has gotten into their vision and somewhat warped the loveliness all about them.

Nearly all the pictures were for sale, but it seemed to me if the artists had painted beauty as we see it everyday more people would be anxious to buy the resultant picture.

I couldn't have sat in a room with some of those efforts—my whole outlook on life would have soured. Some of the photographs were splendid, and I enjoyed my journey round and was only sorry I could not go to the fine arts building.

In the afternoon we went to the children's zoo, and time was kind and turned backward, and for a little while we forgot wars and rumors of war and were children again.

The attendance at high school

The high stockade of cedar trees and various high shrubs and grains gave a woody atmosphere eminently fitting as a setting for its occupant bird, beast and reptile.

I had always wanted to see flamingoes and there they were, wading in their pool and standing as my authorities, which were picture postcards, always showed—on one leg, while their pink feet and rosy orange wing lining showed as they flapped their wings.

A black swan and her cygnets swam about in another pool.

There were monkeys so tiny as to be no bigger than a squirrel; there were others a bit bigger, very busy about their own affairs, but looking exceedingly worried, as all monkeys do; it seems to me they want to talk, and are feeling after speech.

There were fat, roly-poly bears and a growling tigerish wild cat, and a lovely fawn wandered about, without fear.

Lovely South American birds shimmered and glinted in the hot sunshine, and then we came to Snow White with her cottage and all her little animals and birds about her.

A white pelican waded and scooped up things from the pool, with a strange sidewise motion of his enormous bill; a big turtle waddled placidly along, undisturbed by the chipmunks and baby rabbits which scuttled about it; a tiny fawn lay sleeping, and a raven perched on the window-sill. Snow White gave us tiny, tame, fluffy bunnies to hold—they lay in your hands without fear. It was altogether idyllic.

But there is always a serpent in every Eden—only these were harmless enough. A man sat with a long black and yellow fox snake on his knee. Every one was smoothing it, and I plucked up courage to do so too, and found it, contrary to the cold, slimy idea, warm and dry.

There were other common harmless snakes, each in its own glass house, and big frogs and big and little turtles. It was a veritable fairyland to the children and a great way to learn something of natural history, for every exhibit was well written up.

We weren't children, but we learned a lot ourselves and enjoyed watching the children—they were so anxious to see—and know.

We left the zoo with regret, but it was nice to know that its pretty and curious occupants would go on giving pleasure to innumerable children.

Then we came out into the hurrying crowds, all making their way to hear the broadcasts. And once there, a curious stillness settled over the huge crowd. Even the children seated in the grass were quiet—there was a feeling of something stupendous in the offing—people listened with their hearts, as well as their ears, and the broadcast voices were grave with the gravity of telling momentous things to a waiting world.

As we turned away, I heard one woman say—"Anything would be better than this suspense," and I think we all agreed with her.

And now, her wish is gratified and we go forward living from day to day in the meagre news that filters through to us. I suppose there will be something each one of us can do, when we find what we CAN do. In the meantime, we can only pray, "God save the king and the empire."

War plans were completed in Ottawa by the Canadian Red Cross at a meeting in Rideau Hall, which organized a national war council, elected chairmen of several committees, approved a nation-wide campaign for funds and discussed arrangements for co-ordinating war work from coast to coast.

WORK OUT SCHEME TO SAVE TOWN MONEY

Some of the town physicians have suggested that indigents who would ordinarily be in York county hospital at a cost of $1.75 a day could be at home and be taken to the hospital for treatment at a cost of $1.00 a day, if they were to be treated at the town council on Monday evening.

The council would have to agree to it, said Dr. Boyd. Would the county agree, asked Councillor A. D. Evans.

Dr. Cooke would jump at that, said Deputy-Treasury Joseph Vale. The council gave its approval.

VERY YOUNG CHIPS IS TAKEN FOR A RIDE

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Come quickly, Pop, and Mother," Very Young Chips was saying excitedly. "I want you to see something."

"What sort of thing?" asked Merry calmly. "You do get so excited, dear."

"It's a very rare bird," babbled Very Young Chips. "I've never seen one before—hurry, or it may have gone."

"Well, I suppose we'd better go with him," said Young Chips resignedly. "Come on folks."

"It's some sort of a tropical bird, I think," Very Young Chips was explaining eagerly as they flew. "I wish I could remember the name that he told me."

"Who told you?" inquired his father sharply. "Did you ask the bird himself?"

"Handsome, the Blue Jay," said the youngster. "He was very kind, explaining all about it to me."

"I begin to think there's a catch in this, if Handsome had anything to do with it," said Woody, the Downy Woodpecker, who was one of the party.

"Here's the place," said Very Young Chips just then. "I know what the name was now—the 'Tropical Triller.' They're only seen here once in a lifetime."

"Tropical Triller my eye!" snorted Young Chips. "Handsome's certainly been pulling your leg, my boy. You might have known there was no bird of that name around here. What did it look like?"

"Orange and black and white," said Very Young Chips. "And it was very pretty."

"Well now," said his parent patiently. "There aren't very many orange and black and white birds. You learnt at school who they were. Now who would this be? Think!"

"It wasn't a Baltimore Oriole—I know him," said the young Chickadee. "And it wasn't a Redstart—I know him. They've both been around all summer. This was someone new."

"Therefore it was someone who is migrating from the north," concluded Young Chips firmly.

"There it is," shouted Very Young Chips. "Over there in the trees with those little greenish yellow birds. I guess it's a Chickadee. They're black and white, with orange markings."

"Nonsense!" scoffed Young

Chips. "I'm very much mortified indeed at your ignorance. To think that a son of mine could drift into the middle of a migration of Warblers in the month of September and not, at the least, know that they were Warblers. That couldn't possibly be a Chickadee. It isn't nearly big enough, or the same shape, or with markings anything like it."

"It's a Blackburnian Warbler, and I agree a very beautiful bird, with that orange on its throat and breast and the black and white on head, back and wings. Those duller, greenish-yellow birds with it are likely young Blackburnians—and they probably know more than a certain young Chickadee I might mention."

Very Young Chips blushed furiously and hung his head. "And another thing!" added Merry severely. "Never believe another word that a Blue Jay says to you."

"I'll remember," promised Very Young Chips. "If you don't mind I'll just go over to play with some of the boys now."

"Watch out for Hawks!" cautioned Young Chips. "If you see any kind of a Hawk, big or small, don't stop to decide what kind it is. You'd probably be wrong anyway. Just get into the most hidden position you can and freeze. You're apt to run into a Hawk running alone, or a big migration of Hawks, anywhere these days."

"I'm afraid we were too hard on the poor boy," said Merry to the young bird darted away. "We may give him an inferiority complex if we make him feel that his ignorance is as ridiculous as these days."

"Rubbish!" ejaculated her husband. "He should know better than to believe everything that people say to him. And he must learn who's who in the feathered world. When I was young I was always making mistakes about who folks were and it was very embarrassing."

"I remember, too, what a cocksure young gentleman you were," Merry assured them. "Apparently you survived your mistakes without feeling too badly about them."

"Just the same I have an idea for getting square with Handsome," said Young Chips.

POLICE COURT

POLICE COURT RUNS ON INTO EVENING

After settling 120 cases Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe did not adjourn the local police court held here on Tuesday until 9:15 p.m. This is the first time in the history of the Newmarket court that a night session has ever been held.

Albert Samuel Holland Landing, was sentenced to jail for two months, his premises were declared public for one year, and the 93 pints of beer found in his house were ordered to be confiscated. Wright pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor.

"On Sept. 9, at 6:20 p.m., Sergeant Barracough and I went to Wright's premises on the old Bradford road," stated County Constable Ronald Watt. "We sent a special operator into the house with marked money. When the operator returned with a bottle he had purchased we entered the premises with a search warrant.

"Wright admitted selling beer to the operator and we found the marked money on his person. On searching the house we found 93 pints of beer hidden in a special compartment of a clothes closet sunk below the level of the ground floor. The compartment was large enough to hold four cases of beer and it was opened by means of a trap-door."

The charge of dangerous driving laid against Irene Armstrong, Newmarket, was adjourned another week. The last witness, Jas. Moore, Newmarket, called by the defence, told the court that he remembered seeing an old gentleman step from the curb and start across the street to the north.

When asked by Defence Counsel Evans if he was not mistaken about the direction, as several witnesses last week stated the man was going south, Moore stated that the man was going north. An argument between the crown attorney and defence counsel will take place next Tuesday.

Mr. Evans presented a list of references dealing with similar cases to the magistrate, who will go over them before next week.

Convicted on charges of careless driving, Rachael Ingman and Murray Wasserman, both of Toronto, were each fined $10 and costs.

Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that the Ingman and Wasserman cars collided on the centre of Yonge St. and that after the impact the Wasserman car landed in the east ditch on its side and was considerably damaged.

An order for payment of wages amounting to $27.50 was given to Wilbur Shropshire, Whitby, and the court ordered that payment be made within one week. The complainant was Bruce Widdifield.

William Draper, North Gwillimbury, laid a claim of wages amounting to $18.50 into the court. Ross Dowell was the complainant.

Convicted on a charge of breaking and entering into the C.N.R. station at Sutton and the theft of a strong-box containing money orders, Benedict Cruickshanks, 27, Toronto, was sentenced to jail for one year. Peter Wilson, 35, Toronto, was remanded in custody one week for sentence on a charge of receiving the stolen money orders.

Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., read a long list of court convictions against Cruickshanks dating back to 1929 and Cruickshanks admitted the record. Mr. Mathews stated that Wilson had no record.

Wilson asked the magistrate for leniency, as he stated, this was his first offence and he was married and had six children and was on relief.

County Constable Alex. McCallum stated that he and County Constable Wm. Hill found the strong-box, taken from the station, in a ditch five miles west of Sutton and that the box had been broken into and a book of money orders and some gold stocks belonging to the station agent had been taken.

N. Robertson, Sutton station agent, stated that each of the 17 money orders stolen had a value up to $100.

Detectives Robert Vance and Wm. Mace, of the Toronto police force, testified that when Cruickshanks and Wilson were arrested, at the corner of Bay and Dundas Sts. in Toronto, Wilson had the book of money orders, which he said had been given to him by Cruickshanks and Cruickshanks admitted giving them to Wilson.

One of the money orders had been filled in for $95, the constables stated. Wilson signed a statement taken by the constables at the police station but Cruickshanks refused to sign his statement.

The two constables later stationed themselves in a cell near those where the two accused had been placed and took down the conversation between the pair.

Heine Alexson, Toronto, was sentenced to jail for 30 days and his driver's license was cancelled for six months when he was convicted on a charge of reckless driving. Mr. Newman, Toronto, was defence counsel.

Howard Johnson, Toronto, testified that he was riding his bicycle south on the Bradford flats about half a mile north of the first aid post at Bradford when he was struck by Alexson's truck.

"I was riding my bicycle about six inches from the west shoulder when I saw the Alexson truck coming north pull out from behind some cars and swing over to my side," Johnson said. "I swung on to the shoulder but the platform of the truck struck my bicycle and I was knocked off and lost consciousness. My wrist was smashed up, my hand was broken, and I was in the hospital 12 days after the accident. The driver of the truck, after a lot of persuading by other people around there, took me to the hospital. There were three other bicycles coming behind me."

Bert Heath and his mother, Mrs. N. Heath, Mimico, testified that they had followed the Alexson truck north from Thornhill and that it had been driven very erratically, as the driver on several occasions went over the centre line.

Harvey Pickford, Harry Alliston, and Wm. Dymally, all of Toronto, testified that they were riding bicycles behind Johnson and that he was driving his bicycle over near the edge of the pavement.

"I believe that Johnson's hand will be permanently injured," stated Mr. Mathews.

"You might have killed Johnson," Magistrate Woodliffe told Alexson. "A boy on a bicycle has as much right as a car if he is on his own side and not weaving in and out. You were driving in an utterly selfish manner."

A charge of reckless driving laid against Max Alexson, Toronto, brother of Heine, was withdrawn. After hearing ten crown witnesses, on a charge of reckless driving laid against Sam Gold, Toronto, the magistrate remanded the accused one week for judgment.

On a charge of careless driving on the Lake Simcoe Road, Wm. Morrison, 17, Sutton, was fined $10 and costs of $10.50.

Constable Carl Morton testified that Morrison was proceeding north toward Sutton. "Morrison drove over on the west side of the pavement for a distance of 87 feet and at one time he was four feet off the pavement. Then Morrison swerved over to the east side and skidded 27 feet before hitting a tree and crashing into a fence."

Morrison told the magistrate that he swerved over to the west side to avoid hitting a dog and that he lost control of the car.

Stickwood car, the constable stated.

On a charge of wilfully committing damage to property, Acl Miller, Keswick, took the jail term of ten days rather than pay $5 damages.

On a second charge of being intoxicated Miller again took a jail term of ten days rather than pay a fine of $15 and costs.

Carl Gordon stated that he and several others were sitting in their car at the large corn roast held at Lake Simcoe recently when they saw Miller pull the cap off a bottle on the fender of a nearby car and give it to a man.

"Miller tried to take the cap off a second bottle but the neck broke, so he threw it on the road and then he picked it up again," Mr. Gordon said. "He must have figured that the most of it was lost so he threw the bottle over his head and it struck our car and took the enamel right off in one place. Then the bottle struck the window, and glass went all over the inside of the car and my wife got some splinters in her nose and hands and others in the car got splinters."

Constable Carl Morton and County Constable Wm. Hill testified that Miller was intoxicated, while Miller insisted that he didn't have a drink all night.

There were 95 speeding cases on the court list on Tuesday, but several of these were either dismissed or adjourned.

Morris Greenglass, Toronto, speeding, $10 and costs, also for not having an operator's license, an additional $10 and costs, both charges laid by Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson.

Daniel MacLachlan, Toronto, speeding, $10 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

E. F. Gaddard, Temagami, no flares, $5 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

P. F. Seagram, Toronto, speeding, $9 and costs, charge laid by Constable Fisher Dunham.

KESWICK PASTOR SAYS VICTORY MUST BE SPIRITUAL

Services were held at the regular hours at the United church on Sunday, Rev. C. E. Fockler occupying the pulpit. Two very lovely solos were sung by Kenneth Boothby of Keswick and Raymond Hodgson of Toronto, accompanied at the organ by Miss Margaret Fockler and Miss E. King respectively.

Beautiful gladioli brightened the front of the church. Rev. Mr. Fockler's splendid morning sermon was in keeping with the present day circumstances. Taking his text from Romans 8: 37, "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors, through Him that loved us," Mr. Fockler said that in these days of distress and chaos there should be much time given to worship and prayer, and asked the question, "Would victory for us mean any changes in the world today?"

"We feel we're fighting for right and for democracy," he said. "If we're going to change world conditions, we must drive from our individual and national lives everything un-Christianlike and undesirable, for if there is to be a moral victory we must first conquer ourselves. There can be no change unless there is a real spiritual regeneration, which requires courage."

"There are two wars being waged—the visible and the invisible one. We must be ready to serve, and also remember that there are good and bad people in every nation."

It was an outstanding message, one which gave his congregation much to think over in these perplexing days.

During the fall and winter months, all United church services will be on standard time at the following hours: 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., and Sunday-school at 10 a.m., to which all are invited.

There will be weekly prayer service each Thursday evening commencing Sept. 21.

An official board meeting is called for Thursday, Sept. 14, at 8 p.m.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Fockler have returned home after a most interesting and enjoyable vacation. They spent a few days at Markham, they then motored down through the Adirondacks, visiting friends in Maine and other points in the States. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fockler seem much improved in health since the pleasant holiday.

UNITED CHURCH PADRES WON'T WEAR UNIFORM

The attitude of the church toward war was discussed by Rev. R. R. McMath at Trinity United church on Sunday morning.

"I was sick in my soul as I listened to the news last Sunday," Mr. McMath said. Three of his brothers went to the last war, and one of them was killed. He himself gave up half his salary.

So far as possible, Mr. McMath said, he would avoid the subjects of "bloodshed, murder and destruction" in the pulpit and make the church a place of quiet and solace.

He said that the general council of the United church had decided in June that should war come the church should not identify itself with militarism, that it should recognize the position of the pacifist and conscientious objector, that if there was to be conscription of men it should support the conscription of wealth as well, and that United church clergymen should not serve as padres in uniform but should go as missionaries.

The town has replaced several blocks of the sidewalk at the northwest corner of Main and Botsford Sts.

PLAN CONSTRUCTION

Continued from page 1 department of health in Toronto, and has made several visits to the incinerator at Forest Hill village, getting first hand information about the construction and operation of the same.

Their garbage collection costs $27,200 for three years.

The grates are six feet square and are removable. The walls are 18 inches thick and the inner part of the wall is made of fire brick held together with iron bind in the brick work.

The chimney is of iron, made by one of several manufacturers, brought to the incinerator and erected. It is 22 inches in diameter and 60 feet high. The smoke is carried so high from the stack that the odor is never noticeable to the residents of the surrounding community. But Mr. Douglas, the caretaker, claims that a brick chimney is cheaper and affords a better draft.

The upper part where the trucks of garbage were dumped was constructed of wood, and had a shed roof on it. One thing would be advisable and that is to build the barn part of iron to avoid fires. The danger of fire is very great and their building had been nearly burned down very recently.

I have the construction plan of the incinerator.

A meeting of the town council and the board of health met at the dump on Tuesday night, surveyed the manner in which the garbage has been taken care of during the last summer, and came to the conclusion that every possible care had been taken to prevent fires by keeping the garbage covered with ash and earth, but in spite of this care, fires are continually breaking out at some distance below the surface.

As the weather is becoming cooler, the disagreeable smell from the dump is largely put away so there is no need to borrow money on debentures this year

COUNCIL PROTECTS TOWN WATER SUPPLY

Cautioned by Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd not to "let our imaginations run away with us," Newmarket town council followed moderation in making arrangements to protect town utilities from possible sabotage during the war with Germany, at its meeting on Monday evening.

A letter from the attorney-general told the council what it might do if it wished and stated that protection of local utilities was a municipal responsibility.

Councillor Wm. Dixon, chairman of the police committee, and Chief Constable James Sloss outlined to the council what they thought necessary.

"I think the war is going to be longer than the last war," said Mr. Dixon. "I am very sorry but I think it is so. There is no need to get excited. I think it necessary to have a certain number of men sworn in, ready to be used if necessary. We should be on the safe side. It will cost money, but before this war is over it will cost every municipality money."

"During the last war we were safe for four years," said Dr. Boyd. "We weren't paying one penny what we are now for police protection. We mustn't be childish."

"The county has made a survey," said Reeve F. A. Lundy. "Some municipalities have gone hysterical and others don't intend to do anything."

Each member of the council made his suggestions, and it was agreed to get along without any special guards as far as possible. The water and light committee were instructed to look after the thorough lighting of the wells and reservoirs, and the police committee were instructed to erect barbed-wire entanglements about them, and to get extra help for Chief Sloss if they found he needed it. It was also agreed to accept an offer from members of the Newmarket Revolver club to be sworn in as special constables in case of any need.

"It would be a good gesture to offer to Military District No. 2 free use of the fair grounds if wanted," said Mr. Dixon. "There is room for 70 horses there if needed."

The council agreed with the suggestion.

Dearest father, we have missed you. None on earth can take your place. And there's many times we're lonely for a sight of your dear face.

Still 'tis sweet to know you're resting in your Father's home above, Free from every pain and sorrow, Safe and happy in His love.

Someday we shall meet again, dear, On that far-off distant shore, And our hands be clasped together, Home at last forevermore. Sadly missed by wife and Marion.

MAJOR'S BROTHER IS IN CHINA'S WAR ZONE

Dr. S. J. Boyd had a special reason for interest in the address of Rev. Dr. A. R. Kepler on China in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening. Dr. Boyd's only brother, Rev. Herbert Boyd, is a missionary in China in the thick of the war zone, and two pieces are Red Cross nurses in China. A nephew, of the same family, is studying medicine at the University of Toronto.

During the Great War Dr. Boyd's brother accompanied 3,000 Chinese laborers to France to help the allies.

WHITCHURCH DECIDES AGAINST NEW BUILDING

On Saturday at Vandon, Whitchurch council appointed Ross E. Ratcliff as tax collector for 1939, at a salary of $225, with no extra allowance for postage.

The collector will be permitted to mail the tax notices this year, instead of covering the entire township delivering them to the ratepayers. Heretofore the collector was paid $300, plus $25 or $30 for postage. About 50 per cent of the tax bills are always mailed to non-residents. A bill mailed to the last known address of a ratepayer may be deemed under the act to have been properly issued. The saving to the municipality will be around $100 over last year.

At a previous meeting Councilor Kidd asked council to consider placing the collection of taxes in the hands of the treasurer, but did not force the issue. Other members who rather favored the idea had in the meantime changed their minds, contending that the township office is swamped with business around Dec. 15, when heavy tax payments are handled, and further demands on the time of the treasurer would not be a good thing.

"I think we will get just as good efficiency in delivering the slips through the mail," said Reeve Toole. The by-law was so worded that the collector may hand out the slips where convenient or mail them at his own option.

Deputy-Reeve Cook moved the amount of $225 and council approved. All tax notices are to be sent not later than Nov. 15, which is one month before the final payment date that taxes may be paid without penalty.

After reading the tenders received for a new building to house the township power grader, it was decided not to proceed this year with any building. Council adopted the suggestion of Councilor Leary to make an effort to secure suitable housing in a large metal building he had in mind on Yonge St., for this winter at least.

Reeve Toole said the cost of a building was far more than he had anticipated council would spend, hence when Councilor Leary advanced his suggestion about the manner in which the machine might be stored this winter he was asked to make a motion to that effect, which received unanimous approval of council and was advised to ascertain if such accommodation might be secured.

Councilor Kidd declared that the money invested in a building would buy a first class plow for winter snow cleaning, and expressed accord in abandoning the idea of building at this time.

Tenders for a building, 18x40, were opened and read as follows: W. R. Ewing, Newmarket, $1,273; Riddell Lumber Co., $1,045; Percy Hutchinson, $985; Robert Windsor, $890; G. W. Baker & Sons, $825; R. J. Monahan, $831; Aurora Building Co., $817; F. G. Cummings, $765.

Two small sheep claims were paid, $7 to Charles Dennie, and $2 to Stanley Gilbert, for sheep destroyed or damaged by dogs.

Direct relief is gradually lessening, it appeared. An amount of $80.48 was paid, of which $8 is chargeable to other municipalities.

Road accounts ordered paid were: Div. B, $2.50; Div. 9, $3.15; No. 10, $7.75; No. 24, $13.40; No. 22, $3; No. 32, $5; $1.75; H. Widdell, salary for month, $98; J. D. Webb, wire fence bonus, $50; Newmarket, E. adv. tenders, $2.50; Floyd Preston, operating grader, month, $85.40.

WHITCHURCH TOWNSHIP TURN DOWN TOWNSHIP SCHOOL BOARD IDEA

The idea of a township school board for the township of Whitchurch met with little or no favor amongst the members of the Whitchurch township council, when a letter from the department of education setting forth the idea of a township board was read on Saturday at the meeting at Vandon.

The proposal set forth was that a board of five representatives elected by the ratepayers in the same manner as a council is elected, be set up to administer the business of the 18 school sections.

It was argued that such a board could not give the same attention to the individual section as trustees living in the section, and if the action of its members was unfair to one section, those causing the dissatisfaction might again be elected by the other voters in the municipality not directly affected by the particular decision of the board toward any one section of the ratepayers.

It was further stated that the amount of work involved would call for some remuneration to those elected. Council accordingly decided to take no action favorable to setting up such a system.

ABOUT TOWN

Resignation of J. F. Withrow as editor of the Aurora Era, to enlist in the Canadian Army Service Corps, has brought a number of comments of appreciation on the work of Mr. Withrow and the added interest in community affairs aroused by The Era.

Readers have expressed themselves as "just waiting for The Era." One lady said: "You know in most meetings there's too much smoking. I can't sit through them. I just depend on The Era for the details." Another said: "Minutes of meetings don't explain themselves. It's the first time I've really understood a lot of the business details I've read."

Mrs. Quinn, president of the W. C. T. U., explained that Mr. Withrow had asked permission to attend the meetings. "We voted on it," she said, and continued, "I am glad to add the appreciation of the W. C. T. U. for the publicity The Era has given our temperance meetings. He has taken an active interest in our work and brought it to the attention of the people."

Charles A. Malloy, president of the hockey club, The department of Jack Withrow to serve his country is a loss to sports in the town of Aurora.

He was always very active in promoting Junior O. H. A. hockey and put forth every effort to make hockey a success.

It was through his efforts and those associated with him in hockey that the town was presented with a valuable time clock by British Consols. This clock will be appreciated by all the citizens of Aurora this hockey season.

Dr. C. R. Boulding, M. O. H., ex-mayor of Aurora: Hearing that our editor had enlisted on Saturday last in the C. A. S. C. I thought I would like to write a few lines to express my appreciation of his work in Aurora.

Jack came to town a few years ago as a complete stranger. He entered into town affairs wholeheartedly at once. I felt that in his paper he rendered local happenings in a fair and interesting way. His "About Town" column was original and usually "pithy."

We shall miss Jack a great deal both in person and in his writing. We wish him the best of luck and hope he returns to us in the very near future.

Eward G. Pinder (formerly of the Mail and Empire): It is with a great deal of feeling we write these few words for the Aurora Era, as thoughts and deeds pass through our memory of one who has left our midst temporarily, we hope. John Foster Withrow we knew in the newspaper field for some years as a born newspaperman but it was not until he became editor of the Aurora Era that his sterling qualities came out in his editorial comment and the About Town column which he edited. Always fearless and never afraid to express an opinion and never once refusing to listen to constructive criticism, he had but one ideal—that anything he might say or do might be a benefit to mankind and particularly to the community in which he lived.

So, as Jack leaves us, we all shall miss his editorials which we enjoyed reading so much. As a sport he was a true sportsman and Aurora will miss him in the hockey season we now embark on. Jack always wanted the game to be fought hard and clean and those of us who worked with him in the years past know that one of his most prized possessions was the medal he received last year as secretary of the Aurora Junior C hockey champions.

But, above all, we know that as a soldier he will give the same leadership and fight for the right in the same true British spirit as he edited the Aurora Era. So in closing, we must all admit that Jack exemplifies a true Canadian—one who offers his all for his king and country so that this world may be a better place in which to live.

Rev. G. O. Lighthour: I was not surprised when Jack Withrow told me he intended to enlist. His sterling character, his courage and his energetic espousal of any cause he believes to be right and true are such that it was to be expected that he would be one of the first to volunteer for service at an hour when the empire is fighting to overthrow tyranny and uphold the cause of justice and freedom.

Mr. Withrow will be greatly missed in Aurora. His genial personality, his fearless journalism, and his keen interest in the welfare of the town have won for him a host of friends, whose prayers and best wishes go with him.

Women Organize Red Cross Society, Name Temporary Committee

SIR WILLIAM WILL BE HONORARY PRESIDENT, WAS ACTIVE IN 1914-18

MAYOR PRESIDES

A meeting of the women of Aurora was convened by Mayor J. M. Walton in the town hall on Saturday evening, at which it was decided to organize a local branch of the Red Cross Society in Aurora.

Since the organization might be required to function for some time it was felt that officers should be selected with due care. A provisional committee was nominated to select officers and report to an open meeting next Saturday evening. This committee is composed of Miss Eva Lemon, Mrs. J. F. Willis, Miss A. Smith, Mrs. C. R. Boulding, Mrs. G. W. Williams, Mrs. Gordon Baldwin and Mrs. N. E. Eade.

Mayor Walton announced the acceptance by Sir William Mulock of the position of honorary president. Sir William, he stated, had assisted very greatly in the work 25 years ago.

The secretary for the meeting, Mrs. C. R. Boulding, was asked to write the postal authorities for permission to use the rooms at the post office, used for a similar purpose from 1914-18. Mayor Walton stated that the town would co-operate to the fullest extent in providing work tables, chairs, etc. He explained the precautions which had been taken by the town in these times "when disturbances might throw everything into confusion."

Mrs. McKeown explained the purposes of the registration and outlined the questionnaire. "It is quite voluntary

Maple Hill

On Sunday evening the pastor of Maple Hill church, Mr. McAsh, gave a fine message on faith.

The young people postponed their meeting until Friday night, when the young people from Langstaff will be here. A good attendance is hoped for.

Prayer meeting is on Wednesday evening as usual.

The Dorcas society has postponed their meeting until next Wednesday. A good attendance is needed to quilt.

Mrs. A. Knights is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs.
Smith, in Scarborough and her daughter, Mrs. Merritt, in Lang-staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Love and Mr.
Prest, of Toronto, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Love on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Edith and Harvey, of Pembroke, are visiting their cousin, Mr. Wm. McGill.

Wanted: An Alibi

The meek little man approached the policeman on the street corner.

"Excuse me, Mr. Officer," he said, "but I've been waiting here for my wife for over half an hour. Would you be kind enough to order me to move on?"

Unexpurgated

A colored preacher was hearing the rather lengthy confession of a young fellow in his congregation. Stopping him at last he said, "Young man, you ain't confessin'; you're braggin'."

Just half an hour later I was celebrating my birthday, the 21st, and dining on roast turkey.

"If the gentleman is pleased with any item on the menu a second portion is obtainable," said an extremely petite French miss.

Emily Post went by the board and I was pleased with that roast turkey just three times.

I want to tell you, (as Bob Burns says) Andrew, while I can, something about the hospitality of the folks up here.

Neighboring is the correct word.
After North Bay even the dogs stopped barking and instead of chasing me ran along in front to clear the way.

Up here, Andrew, we have the bush of relief all over again. The bushmen living in their tumbledown shacks used to have their little gardens and cut wood for a living and managed to get along in the best way they knew how.

But now that relief is handed out to them they are practically starved. The garden produces only weeds and the family ac-cis is dull. That, Andrew, is a brief word picture of the northern peasant.

Where was I? Oh yes. Kapuskasing. I had an idea there was a freight going west that night and I just made it as it puffed out of the station at midnight. It was still raining when I hopped a flat car and there I was.

What an experience. I stood with my hands on my hips, my feet spread wide apart, drew a deep breath and watched the lights of the town slowly disappear. The searchlight from the Kap. airport swept past me every two minutes and I felt like a dictator. How does a dictator feel, Andrew? I'll wager one doesn't feel so hot right now.

Soon I realized that this was to be no picnic. As mile after mile drifted by and the rain increased, I began to get cold. So I put on the high boots and the overalls and lay down and tried to sleep. I imagine mal de mer must be something like the way
I felt. Did I regurgitate? You bet I did.

After a seemingly endless time we pulled into Hearst and I jumped off and began to slap myself vigorously. Then I wandered up to the engine where they were taking on water and asked the fireman if there was an empty box-car I could climb into. The fireman replied that there were only 96 empty cars back there and I was to help myself. I got one open at last and climbed in and proceeded to get sick all over again. When we arrived at Nakina I heaved a sigh of relief and noted briefly that I was exactly 704.8 miles from Toronto. Ah me!

One of the humorous incidents of the trip seemed to me a paradox (?). I had celebrated my 21st birthday in a box car "riding the rods." So you see, at the same time, I reached majority (became a man) I also became a "bum." Could you call a man a "bum" or vice versa?

Out of every three of the inhabitants of Nakina one spoke French. I wandered around the town all day and, as night came on, I hid me toward the tracks.
From Nakina to Sioux Lookout
I travelled in state, namely a cattle car. As for travelling companions I enjoyed the company of eight of the most amiable transients I've ever had the pleasure of knowing. At least I assume they were amiable because I couldn't understand a word they spoke. Some fun, eh?

The next morning we hit Sioux Lookout and then I had my first trouble with railway detectives.

I have to go now, Andrew, so I'll write you again. Write me if you have time, c-o Cochenour-Williams, Mackenzie Island, Ontario.

Yours respectfully,
J. O. Daley.

P.S.—The Police and German here in the camp are the best of friends and continually make fun of one another.

the chair and proceeded to push me around.

That night I stayed at Audy's cottage at Child's Beach near Iroquois Falls and went fishing and canoeing on the small lake there. That's what I'd call mixing business with pleasure.

Next stop Cochrane—the top end of the line. From here I go west. When I got into Cochrane after going through miles of bush and farmland in turn, the skies clouded over and rain came down for a day. I stayed in a hotel that night and that was another $1 gone.

However, after resorting to another hotel register I found myself motoring the 86 miles to Kapuskasing with a traveller from Toronto. It rained so hard on the way over that we could hardly see the road. (A torrential downpour, I believe, it might be called.) Two hours of driving brought us to Kapuskasing Hotel
—the most charmingly amazing misfit in the north country.

How would you feel, Andrew,

SAYS COUNTY

is only a convenience. Indirectly, it brings a lot of people to town. We get $20 a month rent. It costs that much to heat it. Until recently we got $5 a month for stationery, but it has been costing us more than that lately. I have a new arrangement under which we will not receive the $5 but all bills will be paid out of the court funds.

"All fines are put in together. Out of that rent and cost of forms are paid first. The rest is divided up among the municipalities in proportion to the amount of fines. Newmarket may receive a certain amount of unfavorable publicity."

"I don't know whether we are getting all the benefit we should be," said Councillor D. O. Mungovan. "It's good business for the lawyers of Newmarket, I'm afraid."

"Afraid?" queried Mr. Mathews. "It brings people to Newmarket but not the kind of people we want advertising from—lawyers and people with a grouse," said Mr. Mungovan.

Mr. Mathews said later that for each person charged there were also brought to town four or five witnesses, who might shop while here.

"It's a curse to the town, that's what I think," said Councillor Bowser. "We get blamed for speed-traps in Aurora and other places."

"All towns of our size, Barrie, Brampton, have courts," said Mr. Mathews. "It is the newspaper publicity."

"We tried hard to get the court because we thought that it would help us to become a county centre, in anticipation of the time, sooner or later, when there will be a northern county," said Mr. Vale.

"Criticism of the court has emanated from county officials who have seen their duties disappearing," said Mr. Vale. "I can't see anything in the criticism that we are making money. It is ridiculous."

"I never could feel sympathy with people who are fined for going 45 miles per hour in Aurora or on Eagle St. within the town, where we have had two people killed. This court has become a large court because we have No. 11 highway and also the route to Lake Simcoe."

"Prominent citizens in the city, apart from county officials, tell me that they are going to protest being dragged up here to court," said Trevor F. A. Landy. "Newmarket doesn't lay half enough charges," Mr. Landy said. "There is too much speeding on Prospect St."

"The offence is committed here," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd. "They should come here to answer."

"I agree with Mr. Landy that

RELIEF COSTS ARE UP

Relief cost $555 in August, compared with $442 in the same month last year, with 88 persons on relief compared to 72 persons last year, Councillor A. V. Higginson, chairman of the relief committee, reported to the town council on Monday evening.

not enough charges are laid in Newmarket," said Councillor Wm. Dixon, chairman of the police committee. "There is bound to be criticism."

"We can take the criticism," said Dr. Boyd.

Later on Mr. Mathews recommended that the town hold back its hospital payments to the county until the county pays the town.

"No, don't be hasty," said Reeve Lundy.

"They pay the city of Toronto," said Mr. Mathews.

"Lock up the cells," said Deputy-Reeve Vale. "Let them take their prisoners down to the city."

"I hadn't any knowledge of this matter until today," said Mr. Lundy. "The clerk should have told me. I haven't been dealt fairly with."

"They can't expect food and lodging for nothing," said Dr. Boyd.

"I have a plan in mind whereby we will be able to collect our whole bill," said Mr. Lundy. He said that the old agreement ran out last year, and that the county declined to renew it.

"Chief Stuart wants us to take charge of feeding county prisoners at 20 cents a meal," said Chief James Sloss. "We are also responsible for liquor confiscated by the county and left in our safe."

"We have the police court and we are going to make them pay for the use of it," said Dr. Boyd.

"There has to be a man there 24 hours when there is a prisoner," said Chief Sloss.

"I am trying to smooth things out and keep the police court here," said Mr. Lundy.

"They have nothing to do with the police court," said Mr. Mathews.

"The county council made representations to the attorney general, to try to prevent us getting it," said Mr. Vale.
